L'objectif principal de l'initiative est de promouvoir l'agriculture durable et améliorer les conditions de vie des populations rurales. Elle vise à renforcer la résilience des systèmes agricoles face aux changements climatiques et à promouvoir l'équité sociale et le genre.

- assessment of the system by the platform Une étude a été menée pour évaluer l'impact de l'initiative sur les communautés rurales.
 Les résultats ont montré une amélioration des pratiques agricoles et une augmentation des revenus des agriculteurs. Cette évaluation a permis d'ajuster les interventions de l'initiative en fonction des besoins réels des bénéficiaires.

4. GUINÉE

- Advice to family farm was initially experimented and developed from 2004 in Mid-Guinea by the Fouta Djallon Farmer Federation (FPFD) with the support of the AFD. In 2011, according to guidance provided by the PNIASA, a National Agricultural Promotion and Advisory Agency (ANPROCA) replaced the National Rural Development and Extension Service (SNPRV) and deployed over 950 field staff. Currently, two member federations of the CNOP-G practise the agricultural consulting in co-operation with ANPROCA: the Fouta Djallon Farmer Federation (FPFD) and the Lower Guinea Farmer Federation Organizations (FOP-BG).

FIRST ACHIEVEMENTS AND PROSPECTS

CONSULTING SUPPORT: GETTING TO KNOW FF BETTER TO HELP THEM TRANSFORM THEMSELVES AND KNOW HOW TO DEFEND THEM

In the end, farmer support for the farmer professionalization process is essential. The first step is to identify the main actors in the process, such as the farmer, the professional, the state, etc. In 2011, the first step was to identify the main actors in the process, such as the farmer, the professional, the state, etc. In 2013, the first step was to identify the main actors in the process, such as the farmer, the professional, the state, etc.

Based on the previous analysis, 73% of the farmer professionalization process (in the end), the farmer support is essential. In 2013, the first step was to identify the main actors in the process, such as the farmer, the professional, the state, etc.

(5) The construction of farmer support systems for local councils (genesis and dynamics of systems)

The inputs from the platforms provide valuable insights into how a specific farmer expertise has gradually emerged in the field of local advisory for family farms in the overall landscape of the West African Agricultural Advisory. ROPPA will build on this experience to support the evolution of current or emerging systems.

17. The birth and governance of farming system

The emergence of farmer support systems is a process that has been ongoing since the 1980s. The first step was to identify the main actors in the process, such as the farmer, the professional, the state, etc. In 2011, the first step was to identify the main actors in the process, such as the farmer, the professional, the state, etc. In 2013, the first step was to identify the main actors in the process, such as the farmer, the professional, the state, etc.
